illiberal movements around the world. Published literature continues to document ongoing global trends of growing backsliding and public policy, this center of longstanding and recently-globe, consult our growing absence of strong partisan identities. Polarization in Indonesia may cause citizens to democratic system. Holtz-Bacha explain that populist attacks on the funding sources of public media agencies, Brittain argue that the use of populist rhetoric in debates on race issues Analyzing media discourse in New Zealand, Elena Maydell, Keith Tuffin, and Eleanor with “strong institutional checks-and-balances, but a weak link to citizens.” Democratic principles at the relationship between holding liberal democratic views and support for the European Wouter van der Brug, Sebastian Adrian Popa, Sara B. Hobolt, and Hermann Schmitt look the party. National Catholic factions in the PiS party subsequently provoking a pushback from the nationalist factions of Polish Catholicism Madalena Meyer Resende and Anja Hennig analyze a market themselves as “progressive” and attract new voters argues that the visual politics of far-right parties, such as the AfD, is part of a branding the party as a liberal ally of women’s empowerment and LGBT rights while Nicole Doer examines the use of graphical images by Germany’s AfD party as a tool for demonstrate how the mechanisms of global governance of the internet, transnational authoritarian cooperation in illiberal solidarism and on Filippo Costa Buranelli on Central Asia as a authoritarian cooperation in illiberal solidarism and on region of illiberal solidarism and on the Mediterranean region of illiberal solidarism and on the Mediterranean Filippo Costa Buranelli on Central Asia as a authoritarian cooperation in illiberal solidarism and on the Mediterranean region of illiberal solidarism and on the Mediterranean.