published literature continues to document ongoing global trends of growing backsliding and public policy, this center of longstanding and recently-movements. From security and international affairs, to democratic academic articles on illiberalism and other topics relating to illiberal democracy, political intolerance, and the normative philosophy of political liberalism.

For resources on illiberal, populist, and authoritarian trends across the globe, consult our growing collection of books and articles. For more information, visit our website at www.illiberalism.org.

Call for postdoctoral application on illiberalism

The Challenge of Ethnopopulism and Authoritarian Rule in East Asia

Edward L. Wilson on Ethnopopulism and Authoritarian Rule in East Asia

In this essay, Edward L. Wilson describes how ethnopopulism and authoritarian rule in East Asia are intertwined, highlighting examples from China, Japan, and South Korea. He argues that ethnopopulism, characterized by nationalism, anti-intellectualism, and anti-pluralism, is a significant factor driving authoritarian rule in the region.

Publications

Aurelien Mondon and Aaron Ciechanowski on the rise of populism in Europe

Drawing parallels with Hungary, Mirosław Michał Sadowski argues that the centralization of power from Hong Kong to mainland China has pushed the Special Administrative Region away from illiberal democracy.

Political Polarization against Liberalism

Kazakhstan is limited by social and economic factors, which contributes to political polarization against liberal values.

Gender Norms and Gender Roles: Sex Education in Kazakhstan

Karlygash Kabatova on why sex education in Kazakhstan is limited by social and economic factors, which contributes to political polarization against liberal values.

Violence in Azerbaijan and its Politicization

Nisa Ismayilzada on the issue of domestic violence in Azerbaijan and its politicization.

Nativist Rhetoric and Voz, Nativist Rhetoric, and the Politicization of Violence in Azerbaijan

Cian Deegan on the nativist positions and rhetoric of Spain's Vox as a force in the study of history not in the abstract but as a source for far-right parties.

Gendering Illiberalism

Andrea Pető aims to analyze the complex relationship of gender and illiberalism, challenging claims of objectivity and neutrality in research on the far right.

Ukrainian Refugees

Sarah Brown and Bill Browder on the topic of Ukrainian refugees.

Program and the Latin American and Hemispheric Studies Program organized a workshop on the topic.

To contribute to a better understanding of the ways illiberalism is developing in Latin America, the Program and the Latin American and Hemispheric Studies Program organized a workshop on the topic.